Changing your major to….
Human Development and Family Studies

You must attend an advising appointment to change your major.

1) Go to the HDFS Advising website:
   http://www.hdfs.chhs.colostate.edu/students/undergraduate/advising.aspx
2) Click on the link to schedule an advising appointment.
3) Type in your personal information when prompted.
4) Choose the option “Not Currently an HDFS major”
5) Choose a time that works for you off the list of available appointment times.
6) As long as you used your @rams.colostate.edu email address, you should receive a confirmation email of your appointment.

During the Change of Major Advising Appointment:

1. HDFS Peer Advisors or Graduate Assistants will:
   a. Share information regarding the major, curriculum, career options, and experiential learning and involvement opportunities.
   b. Answer general questions about the major.
   c. Complete the change of major paperwork.

2. The change of major paperwork will be sent to the Registrar’s Office for processing. It may take a week or two for the change-of-major process to be finalized.

Students with 30 credits or more must have completed or be currently registered for PSY 100, SOC 100 or HDFS 101 before they can complete the change of major paperwork.

Due to course sequencing, this major cannot be completed in less than three semesters.

NOTE - If you are interested in declaring or adding the major during the summer please email Chhs-hdfs_advising@mail.colostate.edu
